Iranian Defenders Giving British-Russian Forces Hard Fight, Berlin Says

Put Up Resistance at Several Points in Effort To Hold Back Invaders; Many Join Army

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Wednesday, Aug. 27.—The Iranian high command in a communiqué picked up and relayed to the world by the Berlin radio reported early today that the Kingdom's defenders "at several points are putting up resistance and have succeeded in holding" the British-Russian advance engulfing the country.

The Tehran announcement did not say where these points of resistance were but the British said Imperial forces on the second day of the invasion already were in possession of the country's vast Western oil reservoir last night. Several towns have been bombed, the communiqué said, with considerable damage to residential areas but it claimed no military targets were hit.

Many Men Report

"The population of all parts of the country is determined to defend the Fatherland," the pronouncement concluded, "and many men are reporting to recruiting offices."

This seemed to dispel British and Russian hopes of a quick victory against only token resistance. British accounts of the swift drive into Iran said air-borne Imperial troops descended from the skies and seized control of vital communication heads, making possible the quick seizure of oil centers.

In hand, said British military reports, and secure from any possible attempt at sabotage, were:

"The Southern end of the pipeline stretching from the Masjid-i-Sulaiman oil field and its great refinery at Abadan at the head of the Persian gulf—a refinery which is one of the world's three largest and has a normal production of from 200,000 to 300,000 barrels a day, or enough to keep the whole of the British Navy supplied. This occupation was accomplished by Indian troops striking Northward beyond Bandar Shapur, Southern terminus of the Trans-Iranian railroad which leads to the Iranian capital of Tehran.

Use Armored Units

Another pipeline, 400 miles to the North at Naft-i-Shah, was seized by British and Indian armored units and infantry who crossed the gulf frontier from the West at Kharanqin and in the process occupied the Iranian town of Qasr-i-Shirin.

Moreover, aside from commanding the sole national railway at Bandar Shapur, the Western and Southern terminals of Iran's only two modern highways were in British hands tonight.

Oklahoma City Council Cancels Permit for Municipal Auditorium

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 26 (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh will speak in Oklahoma, Friday, even if he has to use a cow pasture, a spokesman for the American First Committee said today after the city council cancelled a permit for use of the municipal auditorium.

"If we can't get a place here we'll go somewhere else. But he definitely will speak, and it will be in Oklahoma," added Herbert K. Hyde, a former United States district attorney and Oklahoma City chairman of the American First Committee.

The council acted unanimously on protests submitted by two local American Legion posts, the Women's Automobile and Transport corps of Oklahoma, Harmony Chapter No. 3 of the American War Mothers and the Knights of Pythias.

Commissioner A. P. Van Meter moving the cancellation, said: "We're not denying the right of free speech by refusing to rent a public building."

Let him go elsewhere to speak, and when he gets tired talking, he can go home.

Hyde termed the council's action "unfortunate," asserting the contract for the auditorium had been made "with the consent and approval of the city manager."

Soviet Machine Gunners Chop Down Waves of Attacking Nazis

Massive Battles of Men and Machines Rage Unchecked from Baltic to Black Sea, Reds Say

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Wednesday, Aug. 27.—Massive battles of men and machines raged on unchecked from the Baltic to the Black sea today, and in tremendous air battles before Leningrad the Russians reported 101 Nazi planes destroyed in the sky and on airbases in two days.

Below the almost continuous fighting for mastery of the air above the Soviet Union's second city, Russian military dispatches said German panzers, motorcycles and infantry charging toward the Baltic port were being mowed down in windrows by Soviet machine-gunners in forest canopied redoubts.

In air clashes on Monday alone the Soviet Information Bureau communiqué listed ninety-three German planes destroyed along the entire front and sixty-three the day before. It gave the Red Air Force losses for Monday as only eighteen.

The fact that the greater percentage of the Luftwaffe craft were downed in the Leningrad area indicated that the Germans now have launched an all-out aerial offensive to try to soften up the city for German driving up from the South and Southwest.

The early morning communiqué gave no details, saying only that the Red Army was heavily engaged along the whole front.

Loss of Novgorod, fortress city 100 miles south of Leningrad, was acknowledged.

Contest Advance

But Red Star newspaper of the Red Army, cited the work of the Soviet machine-gun crews in contesting the advance even when tanks were thrown in.

First, it said, the Germans laid down a heavy preparatory artillery barrage, but the Russians laid low and met the following German infantry with a deadly fire as they advanced in close ranks.

Then tanks and motorcyclists were sent forward in the woods to try to mop up the machine gun nests, but they too were routed or slain, Red Star reported.

The Soviet Government's communiqué praised the populace of Leningrad which it said was "rising as a steel wall in defense of its native city—the cradle of the proletarian revolution."

In preparation for the pledged all-out, street-by-street defense of the city, thousands are learning how to disable tanks with hand grenades and gasoline bombs, while others are polishing their marksmanship with rifle and machine gun, it was stated.

Investia, the government newspaper, described the main street of Leningrad, famous in literature as the Nevsky Prospect, now called Twenty-Fifth of October avenue in tribute to the date of the revolution.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—A Senate sub-committee laid plans tonight to start an investigation of the Eastern Seaboard gasoline shortage by calling Secretary of the Interior Ickes to the witness stand.

Ickes, who is also defense petroleum co-ordinator, was invited to appear at the opening session Thursday to testify about the gasoline system and the reasons for it. If Ickes, who is now in the West, is unable to attend, Ralph K. Davies, acting co-ordinator, will be asked to appear.

Free Mason Lodges Are Dissolved in Belgium by Nazis

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—The German military commander in Belgium decreed today immediate dissolution of all Free Mason lodges and institutions as well as similar organizations and their affiliates.

Military Mission Will Go to China In Move To Step Up Aid from U. S.

Staff of Officers Will Study Situation, Help in Delivery of Items and Instruct Soldiers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—

President Roosevelt announced today that a military mission would soon be sent to China to work with officials there in making this nation's lease-lend assistance to that country as effective as possible.

The chief of the delegation, he said in a formal statement read at a press conference, will be Brigadier General John Magruder. He is to be accompanied by a staff of officers all of whom are to leave in about a fortnight.

"The function of this mission," the statement said, "will be to study in collaboration with Chinese and other authorities, the military situation in China, the need of the Chinese government for material and materials; to formulate recommendations regarding types and quantities of items needed; to assist in procurement in this country and in delivery in China of such material and materials; to instruct the use and maintenance of articles thus provided; and to give advice and suggestion of appropriate character toward making lend-lease assistance to China as effective as possible in the interest of the United States of China, and of the world effort in resistance to movements of conquest by force."

May Alay Chinese Fears

The fact that such a mission would be dispatched had been divulged earlier in the day by the Chinese ambassador, Dr. Hu Shih, who had indicated that the mission's duties might also include helping the Chinese with strategic problems involved in the war with Japan. Mr. Roosevelt said he knew nothing about that.

Some observers saw in the announcement of the mission, a closer coordination of the forces opposed to Japanese expansion in the Far East.

The move was expected to allay fears in some Chinese quarters that current conversations between the United States and Japan might result in a settlement of their differences at the expense of China. Some apprehension over such a possibility was reported in Chungking after Prime Minister Winston Churchill's speech Sunday in which he said the United States was negotiating with Japan for a settlement which "would give Japan the interests."

Situation Tamed Critical

This apprehension was not shared, however, by Dr. Quo Tai-chi, the Chinese foreign minister, who said he was not concerned over the American-Japanese talks because "the democracies can no more change from their policy of opposition to aggression than Japan can abandon her policy of aggression."

Beside Dr. Hu Shih, another visitor to the White House today was Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand who took reporters the Far Eastern situation was "very critical," said his country was ready to enter into any mutual defense arrangement with the United States.

The parade, highlight of the annual convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, stretched along Broad street and the Parkway, 50,000 strong throughout the afternoon.

Cheered alike by spectators and other marchers were soldiers of the One Hundred and Thirteenth Infantry who arrived in trucks from Fort Dix, N. J., and formed into the marching order of the new army.

In a morning address, Mayor La Guardia, national director of civilian defense, brought a roar of applause by declaring:

"We must understand when we deliver a plane to England we are helping ourselves, not Britain. The more we deliver the more we are helping ourselves."

"Nobody can tell intelligent people that we could negotiate a peace treaty. No dice. No more so than a cop on the corner can shake hands with a bandit."

La Guardia asserted "there can be no peaceful life in America as long as the Nazi regime continues," and added:

"If England should crumb before we are ready, we will be in a state far more serious than the unlimited emergency for the next twenty-five years."

Earlier the veterans were asked by Louis B. Nichols, assistant director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, to help in suppressing the fifth column in America, but advised against any further detection work in that respect.

He said the most assistance could be given secretly by advising the F. B. I. of any matters that warranted inquiry.

Report Last Dnieper Stronghold Is Taken After Fierce Fighting

Fall of City Gives Nazis and Allies Possession of All Southern Ukraine Except Beleaguered Odessa; DNB Says Many Prisoners and Vast Amount of Material Are Captured by German Soldiers

SHIPYARD ADVISOR

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—The Germans announced tonight they had captured the great industrial city of Dniepropetrovsk, last Russian fortress west of the Dnieper in Southern Ukraine, and the railway center of Lugansk, ninety miles South of Leningrad.

The high command said troops of Field Marshal David von Klenau took Dniepropetrovsk after heavy fighting, but it did not disclose whether the huge hydroelectric power dam below the city was still standing. Eleventh largest city of the Soviet Union, Dniepropetrovsk has a population of 300,000.

The Germans said the capture of Dniepropetrovsk gave them and their allies possession of all of the Southern Ukraine except beleaguered Odessa. DNB reported the capture of a series of bridgeheads on the Dnieper by German and Hungarian troops, cutting off the retreat of Red Army remnants.

Many Russians Killed

"All attempts of the Soviets to hold up the German attacks by throwing forward masses of infantry collapsed in concentrated fire of German and Hungarian troops," the news agency asserted.

It added that several companies of Russians trying to reach the West bank of the Dnieper were "completely wiped out" and that even on the East bank of the river "the miles were the scene of destruction, thousands of dead Russians lay along the banks in the wreckage and upturned boats floated on the stream."

Luftwaffe bombers ranging ahead of Nazi troops which captured Lugansk on the Northern front were reported to have blasted railway stations and yards in Leningrad itself last night, and that "the glow of numerous fires lighted the night sky for hours."

This assault, DNB said, followed a day-long aerial bombardment yesterday which disrupted rail lines running into the city.

On the Central front it declared main line railroads were destroyed at many places and several trains derailed.

Fall of Lugansk was announced by DNB, which said the town's 20,000 inhabitants defended it valiantly against German troops who broke through 112 defense bunkers and cleared away 2,000 mines to reach it.

"Fight for Freedom" Executive Returns from Abroad Reassured

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—Herbert Agar, editor of the Louisville (Ky.) German Resident Is Arrested on Espionage Charge

FBI Agents Accuse Kurt F. Ludwig of Disclosing Defense Information

SPOKANE, WASH., Aug. 26 (AP)—FBI agents reported today the arrest of a long-time resident of Germany on an indictment accusing him of furnishing an unnamed foreign power with information relating to the National Defense program.

The prisoner, Kurt Frederick Ludwig, 38, was brought to Spokane today for arraignment before United States Commissioner Maurice Smith as a fugitive from justice.

He pleaded innocent to the fugitive charge, and bond was set at $50,000.

Ludwig, indicted in New York for using the mails in violation of the Espionage act of 1917, was arrested Saturday in Cleveland, Arthur Cornelius, Jr., head of the Seattle office of the F.B.I., said Ludwig was picked up as he boarded a west-bound bus after spending the night in the central Washington town.

Lyle Keith, United States district attorney, said the maximum penalty upon conviction would be five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine for use of the mails and twenty years imprisonment for transmission of matter banned by the Espionage act.

Cornelius said Ludwig contended he was a United States citizen, went to Germany as a child with his parents and returned for a short time. He went back to Germany again and returned to the United States in 1940, the officer added.

He said he understood Ludwig had a wife and three children in Germany.

In Seattle, Acting Special Agent W. C. Ryan of the Seattle office said Ludwig had been associated with various aliens "whose activities have covered parts of the United States."

DEATH PENALTIES ORDERED TO HALT RAILROAD SABOTAGE

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Aug. 26 (AP)—German and French authorities seeking to stem a tide of disorders in occupied France decreed new death penalties today for failure to halt railway sabotage.

French civilian watchmen conscripted to mount guard over railways around Paris will pay with their lives for any sabotage in their sectors under the new ruling.

Tomorrow a special French summary court authorized to sentence to death all Communists and Anarchists in the occupied zone is to start hearings. It was created by the Vichy Government four days ago.

BOARD OF INQUIRY BEGINS HEARINGS

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26 (AP)—A three-man board of inquiry today heard officers of the American Freighter Norluna described a crash with a patrol boat in which two Baltimore naval reservists were killed off Puerto Rico Aug. 13.

Sitting on the board of inquiry were J. Frank Staley, representing the department of justice; Capt. W. J. Keester, commander of the Norfolk Coast Guard district; and Capt. Paul H. Tyler, director of the Bureau Marine Inspection and Navigation.

Dorsey Osborn, seaman, first class, and Francis C. McKenna, fireman, second class, were killed in the collision.

Kelly F. O'Neal of Wilmington, Del., third mate of the Norluna, said he was spelling out the name of the freighter with the blinker when the patrol boat cut across the ship's bow and the crash resulted. He said the patrol boat "evidently got out of control."

Captain David Atwood, master of the Norluna, said he was asleep when the crash occurred and was awakened by the vibrations of his ship "which told me we were backing at full speed." O'Neal said he had signalled the engine room for full speed astern when the patrol boat cut across the bow.

O'Neal said that after the crash a lifeboat picked up six men from the water, four from a raft and six more, including the captain, from the patrol boat.

Fifteen Are Injured In B&O Train Wreck

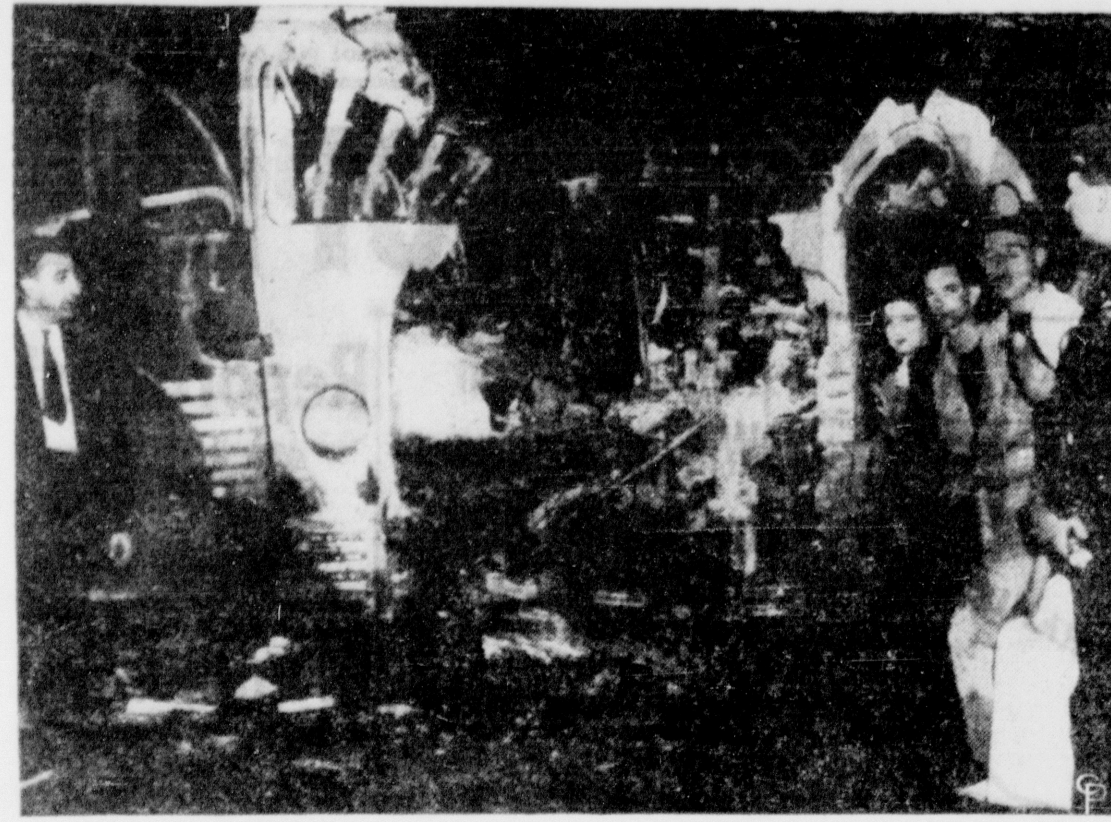

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26 (AP)—Fifteen persons were reported injured tonight when a westbound Baltimore and Ohio passenger train struck an open switch and then collided with a standing boxcar at Elliott City, a few miles from here.

Three of those injured—the engineer, conductor, baggage man and one passenger—were taken to University hospital, Baltimore.

They were Windsor Brandenburg, 51, baggage man; Baltimore, injured back; Joseph Lugenbell, 65, conductor, Baltimore, broken arm; and J. Charles Burgess, 45, Elliott City, hand injury. Burgess, a B and O clerk, was riding as a passenger.

A switch engine replaced the damaged Diesel-electric locomotive for the remainder of the run to Frederick.

Duke Visits Martin Airplane Factory And Camp Holabird

American Soldiers and Arsenal Workers Give Him Rousing Cheer

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26 (AP)—American soldiers, factory workers turning out big bombers for the battle of Britain, and British sailors manning supply boats for the empire gave the Duke of Kent a rousing Baltimore welcome today.

The younger brother of the British king stood before a background of British-bound bombers and told workers at the Glenn L. Martin airplane plant.

"I can assure you that we in Britain appreciate very deeply the hard work you have done and are doing to help us. Every hour of work that you put in here saves the lives of men, women and children in England and brings victory that much nearer."

After the aviation plant inspection the duke relieved American and Canadian motor transport troops at Camp Holabird. Before he left for Washington he talked with 150 British sailors from merchant ships loading supplies for England.

Throughout the trip, the duke showed great interest in factory operations and methods, and spoke at length with a number of Martin workers. At Camp Holabird, too, he conversed with individual troops, and climaxed his tour with a ride behind the wheel of a "jeep" scout car.

Greeting him were Governor O'Connor, Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore and Maj. Gen. Henry C. Pratt, commanding officer of the Third Corps Area.

The party left for Washington late in the afternoon and planned to fly to Canada tonight.

Small Power Plants May Be Linked

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Defense committee of the National Association of Power Engineers reported today plans were being made to link small power plants with utility lines to provide additional electricity for defense needs.

The report was made by William C. Strickler of Washington, committee secretary at the association's fifty-ninth annual convention. Strickler said there were many small, isolated power plants that were not producing at capacity. He explained that the surplus power these plants are capable of producing could be directed into utility lines and this energy used to relieve the burden caused by heavy demands of defense industries.

Strickler said the committee was surveying these sources of additional electric energy and a number of power plants now lying idle.

Melropolitan New York Inundated As Gale Driven Rain Strikes Area

Two Subway Lines and Long Island Railroad Reported Caved In

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—Streets, sidewalks, two subways and part of a railroad line caved in like paper bags tonight as the city suffered its worst transportation tie-up in history under a violent deluge that held New York in its fury for several hours.

Within an hour and a half, sheets of rain, driven by a fifty-mile-an-hour wind, inundated the metropolitan area with 2.13 inches of water and plunged the mercury from 87 to 70 degrees.

The transportation tie-up, caused by the cave-ins and floods, marooned thousands of persons in all parts of the city on subway and railroad trains and was termed the "worst in the history of transportation in New York City" by William Jerome Daly, secretary of the board of transportation.

More than 2,000 cars, including lines of automobiles inside the tunnel, were involved in a traffic tie-up at the Holland tunnel, between New Jersey and Lower New York. Police took more than an hour to unravel the tangle.

Thunder clouds moving over the Lower Hudson valley, Eastern New York and part of Connecticut blanketed the Metropolis in midnight darkness during the dinner hour. Traffic signals and street lights failed in many sections, and motorists pulled to the curb. A pencil peddler was killed by a bus.

Two cave-ins occurred at the Fulton street extension of the independent division of the subway in Brooklyn. Fire leaped 100 feet high when lightning struck a twenty-four-inch gas main broken by one of the cave-ins. A cellar wall of a two-story house nearby was blown out and flames followed the wooden planks of the subway excavation for half a block.

An automobile fell into each of the two cave-ins at Autumn and Pitkin avenues, Brooklyn.

Fire headquarters disclosed that 179 alarms were sounded between 6 and 7 p. m.

The section of the subway where the cave-in occurred had been under construction the last two years. Daly said, another cave-in was reported in the Long Island Railroad line a few blocks away. The third cave-in was of a stairway under construction in a subway station in Queens.

Daly declared that Manhattan was the only borough getting service in the independent division at 8 p. m. Service on the Jamaica, Queens branch had been stopped at Queens Plaza and trains on the Fulton street extension were halted due to floods.

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Official permission now has been given for resumption of shipments of strategic Philippine minerals and coconut oil to Russia. They were halted at a time when it was suspected that a large proportion was finding its way to Germany.

Hull Reassures China

China concurrently has been reassured by Secretary of State Hull that in the continuing diplomatic talks with Japan there will be no compromise of American principles and no agreement that would permit Japan to enjoy the fruits of aggression.

All the while American equipment and management appear to be rapidly developing the Burma road to its full capacity.

This steadily unfolding of British and American measures to restrain Japan—Tokyo prefers to call it an encirclement plot—makes the Shanghai report especially interesting reading.

It is a French dispatch from Tokyo quoting well informed quarters as saying the Japanese government had decided to tolerate temporarily the passage of American war materials to Vladivostok. This toleration, it was added, will be used as a lever to obtain relaxation of the Anglo-British economic blockade, and Russia will be asked to pledge that American arms will not be used against Japan.

Despite this dispatch, however, there is no certainty as to just what Japan will do. Meanwhile the first American tanker plods toward Vladivostok where it is due within two weeks.

There are signs that the two principal gateways to Russia, through Iran and Siberia, may be propped open with a minimum of actual force.

Iran now indicates a willingness to reach an understanding with Britain and Russia, ordering expulsion of some of the German Nationals whose presence occasioned the invasion of the ancient Moslem land.

Japan, it is hinted in a roundabout manner from Shanghai, may be less inclined to make an issue of the delivery of American aviation gasoline and other war supplies to Russia by way of Vladivostok.

Other developments demonstrate that the foes of the Axis are able to bring considerable power to bear just now. Moreover, they are determined to use their power to the full, while Adolf Hitler struggles to bring his Russian adventure to a decision.

Batteries Are Camouflaged

Outside the city, hidden in the Northern forests and fields, are heavily camouflaged anti-aircraft batteries which throw up a thick curtain of fire all around. Izvestia reported.

In the Ukraine, on the Southern front, the army paper said, the German Ninth Tank Division lost half its men and equipment in one battle and that the German Sixteenth lost 400 cars and trucks in another single encounter.

Of the Russian push into Iran in co-operation with Britain there were scanty accounts. Soviet forces which entered through Caucasus mountain passes in two places were reported to be continuing to advance after their initial penetration of twenty-five miles Monday.

No indication of the Iranian reaction was given, but it was expected in Moscow that the occupation would be carried out quickly.

Injured Aviator Crawls for Seven Hours after Crash

Twenty-two-Year-Old Girl Lay Beside Wreck Ship 12 Hours

BISMARCK, N. D., Aug. 26 (AP)—From out of North Dakota's rugged badlands today came the story of an airplane crash in which a 22-year-old Billings, Mont., girl lay beside a wrecked ship for twelve hours while her companion, dragging a fractured ankle, crawled a tortuous four-and-a-half miles for help.

The girl, Dorothy Schindele, is being treated in the Beach hospital for a broken leg, severe facial lacerations and other injuries.

Her companion and pilot of the small training plane, is C. O. Moore, 27, also of Billings. He is suffering a fractured ankle and multiple bruises and contusions. Neither was critically injured.

Moore said his ship crashed on Bullion Butte near the Little Missouri river in the heart of the badlands about 10 a. m. Monday after a takeoff from Dickinson en route to Billings.

It took Moore seven hours to crawl four and a half miles to the Snye ranch "through the Devil's own country" to reach the ranch. Moore had to wade the Little Missouri river.

A physician and a group of twenty men did not reach the girl until 10 p. m., last night. It took them about four hours to bring her out on a stretcher.

Erie Filling Station Owner Refuses To Observe Ruling

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 26 (AP)—Entering the fourth week of defiance to the government's 7 p. m.-7 a. m. curfew for gasoline filling stations, Herman Blikle declared tonight he considered his action both justifiable and successful.

Business, the middle aged dealer declared, has been "much better," so much so that with his supply of gasoline already subject to rationing by the oil firm with whom he deals, he now has to limit every customer to twenty-five cents worth at a time or about a gallon and a half.

Last week several near riots occurred as pickets formed about the station. A girl and a man were hurt in one of the melees. That forced Blikle to close for two hours.

Blikle said he sold 1,000 gallons to "regular customers" in a five hour period on a busy Saturday night. Regarding the government's move to close the station on behalf of national defense, the oil dealer said:

"If the government really wants to save gas they should put a two cent a gallon extra tax on it for national defense. That would both save gas and bring in money."

1,612,464 Bushels Of Oyster Shells Are Planted

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 26 (AP)—Tidewater Fisheries department officials announced today that 1,612,464 bushels of oyster shells have been planted on Chesapeake bay oyster bars this year.

Officials said careful records of the spat fall would be kept. When the records show that shell planting is effective in an area, seed oysters instead of shell will be planted there they added.

"The objective of the commission," a spokesman said, "is to produce the greatest possible number of oysters per dollar spent."

Railroads Asked To Curtail Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—Officials of the Association of American Railroads said today they had suggested to all member railroads that passenger service be curtailed wherever possible in order that equipment might be available for anticipated heavy troop movements.

They said they had no information as to what plans the individual railroads had made, but there would be a general response to the suggestion.

It was pointed out that curtailment of passenger service would be a matter for individual railroads and state commissions.

Soviet Troops Occupy Second City of Iran

NEW YORK, Wednesday, Aug. 27 (AP)—Soviet Russian troops have taken Ardabil, 120 miles to the East, near the Caspian sea, and Shalpus, about eighty miles West of Tabriz, the British Broadcasting Corporation said today.

It said the source of the report was a message from Moscow. The BBC broadcast was heard by NBC.

World War Officer Dies in Hospital

Major General Robert Alexander, 77, Will Be Buried in Arlington

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—Major General Robert Alexander, 77, wartime commander of the Seventy-Seventh (New York) Division which included the famed "Lost Battalion," died last night at the United States Veterans' Hospital here.

General Alexander was a veteran of the Sioux campaigns of 1890 and 1891; the Spanish American war, the Philippine insurrection, the Pershing punitive expedition to Mexico against Villa, and the World War.

After the war he was in command of the Third Field Artillery Brigade at Camp Lewis, near Tacoma, Wash., and became a major general shortly before his retirement on his sixty-fourth birthday.

He had been in the hospital for seven weeks.

He is survived by his widow and two sons, Lieut. Col. William Alexander, One-hundredth and Eightieth Field Artillery, twenty-sixth Infantry Division now stationed at Camp Devens, Mass., and Robert, Jr. of New York city.

Burial will be Thursday in Arlington National cemetery.

BATTALION LOST IN WAR GAMES MAKES WAY BACK

DEEP RIVER, Wash., Aug. 26 (AP)—Cold, hungry and exhausted, a lost battalion of some 900 soldiers made its way out of the timbered wilderness today after becoming lost in war games.

The battalion, commanded by Maj. Fred Hoyer of the Fortieth Division, started up the Deep river valley shortly after midnight Saturday to execute a pincer movement on an "enemy" camp.

Leaving their trucks soon after starting out, the men followed an abandoned logging railway for a time. Thinly they left that for deep timber and became lost.

Heavy rains added to their discomfort. They carried a two-day food supply.

A searching party headed by Brig. Gen. Ernest J. Dawley, was ready to enter the woods today when an advance group of C.C.C. searchers came out with the first of the lost soldiers.

The area covered some of the wildest country of Southwestern Washington.

Government Wants To Use Dietrich's Legs in an Adv.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—The government wants to use Marlene Dietrich's legs.

Robert W. Horton, publicity man for the office of emergency management, said that something has to be done to popularize substitutes for silk stockings.

"We are engaged in correspondence on that subject with Marlene Dietrich," he said. "We could use her legs."

However, the government will have to wait awhile, because Miss Dietrich fractured an ankle when she tripped over a toy fire engine on a Hollywood movie set yesterday.

ARMY TO USE NEW TANK CHASING UNIT

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md., Aug. 26 (AP)—The army will roll out a new type tank chasing unit, now in an experimental stage here, for a demonstration tomorrow.

The new general headquarters unit, built around the personnel of the Ninety-third Antitank Battalion, is primarily an offensive force organized to pursue and destroy enemy tanks. It is equipped with light and heavy antitank guns on self-propelled mounts.

Antitank guns are mounted on flat-bodied mosquito-like "Jeep" cars and on speedy "half-tracks," steel-sided vehicles with wheels in front and caterpillar tracks behind. The half-tracks also are equipped with anti-aircraft machine guns.

The Jeeps each carry a 37-millimeter gun, the lighter antitank weapon.

It is the army's theory that these small cars can swarm into position quickly, begin firing without stopping to emplace guns, then, if necessary, move again without the loss of time necessary when guns are towed.

A reconnaissance battery of light tanks will be included, the War department has announced, adding that the new battalion is a forerunner of many more tank destroying units.

The tank chasing outfit will see action for the first time in the large-scale maneuvers to be held this fall.

Duke Thanks U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Duke of Kent today expressed Britain's grateful appreciation of aid being received from the United States and added that "the more that you can give us, the quicker we shall win."

The Duke spoke briefly at a reception given at the National Press Club by newspaper correspondents. He said:

"Your press has unique facilities for obtaining detailed and accurate information. I should like to congratulate you upon the noble way that you are making of them."

6,700,000 Pounds Of Old Aluminum Goes To Smelters

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—The government announced today that 6,700,000 pounds of "pots and pans" donated in the defense aluminum drive had already moved toward defense production with indications the national collection would total nearly 14,000,000 pounds.

Office of production management experts estimated that 14,000,000 pounds of scrap metal would yield about 10,500,000 pounds of aluminum, equivalent to nine per cent of the consumption last year by the twenty-nine secondary smelters to which the scrap was shipped.

"Approximately 2,800 fighting planes could be manufactured from 10,500,000 pounds of aluminum," pointed out F. H. LaGuardia, director of civilian defense.

FACTORY EMPLOYMENT SHOWS AN INCREASE

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26 (AP)—Factory employment in Maryland increased 2.9 per cent, John M. Pohlhaus, state commissioner of labor and statistics, reported today.

"This upward trend in factory employment and payrolls has continued uninterrupted since March, 1940," Pohlhaus said.

The increases were contrasessional. In the past eighteen years, the average change in factory employment from June to July has been a decrease of 0.2 per cent, while the average change in payrolls has been a loss of one per cent.

The commissioner said the report was based on returns from 658 manufacturing establishments currently employing 154,398 persons whose combined weekly earnings in July was $4,922,955.

"Of the forty-three industries covered by this report, twenty-two reported increases in both employment and payrolls," Pohlhaus said.

"Losses in both employment and payrolls were indicated for seven industries, seven reported a gain in employment and a loss in payrolls, four reported a loss in employment and a gain in payrolls, two indicated no change in employment with a gain in payrolls and one industry indicated no change in employment with a loss in payrolls."

GERMANY DISCUSSES PROBLEMS WITH IRAN

BERLIN, Aug. 26 (AP)—The German spokesmen disclosed today that negotiations were under way with Iran on the British-Russian invasion and potential danger of British-American aid to Russia through the new war zone.

Informed sources said the German had expected the British move for some time and had made preparations accordingly. There were no hints, however, on what Germany might do.

The nature of negotiations with Iran was undisclosed. There was no indication that Iran had appealed for German military support, and reports that Germans took the initiative and offered help were called "trial balloons."

In reference to British reports that the British were taking food into Iran because the Germans had deprived Iran of food commodities, a spokesman said that "not a kernel of grain was taken out."

German imports from Iran were listed as dried fruit and rice "which recently have been imported in smaller quantities than normally."

Contracts Are Awarded

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26 (AP)—State Roads Commission Chairman Ezra B. Whitman announced tonight the award of two defense road construction projects totaling $650,000.

They are the clover-leaf approach to the Glenn L. Martin airplane plant, expected to cost approximately $450,000, and the underpass at Jessup, leading into Fort George G. Meade, $200,000.

A third project, involving the construction of small bridges leading to the Martin plant, was held in abeyance, although bids have been received from contractors. The work is expected to cost $150,000.

Oil Price Ceiling Declared Unfair

Stymies Expansion in Pennsylvania, Com- plainants Charge

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 26 (AP)—Two oil producers charged here that the new price ceiling of $23.4 a barrel on Pennsylvania crude oil will stymie any production expansion and is an unfair action toward small operators.

In telegrams to Price Coordinator Leon Henderson and Petroleum Coordinator Harold Ickes they referred to Henderson's announcement last Saturday that a 25-cent increase of August 14 should be rescinded and a $23.4 top retained. The messages, signed by Manager

William Schroeder of the Schroeder Brothers Oil and Gas Company and by Martin Hock Brothers of Chicago, Pa., contended that a price of $25.9 fixed nine days ago "was the first real drilling stimulus since 1930 when the price fell below production costs to remain there."

The two companies quoted Petroleum Association estimates that production costs for small wells producing 1,000 barrels a year amounted to $25.5 a barrel, and added that a great number of Pennsylvania grade producers have wells of low yield.

They told Henderson that his statements regarding a substantial price increase in the last nine months "reflects a lack of knowledge of the oil industry" because prices did not reach production costs until Aug. 14.

The Schroeder firm, with headquarters in Parkersburg, operates 100 wells in West Virginia with a production of about thirty-five barrels a month. The Hock Brothers have 200 wells around Butler, Pa., and in central West Virginia with a production average of 200 barrels a month.

A TOMATO PEST WITH A BIG APPETITE

The tomato hornworm is the most common and well-known insect of tomato plants. These caterpillars eat the leaves of the tomato ravenously; in fact, they will eat all the leaves off a plant in a few days.

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, these fat green worms are from two to four inches long with a slender horn on the back end. The caterpillar is the same color as the foliage and is often difficult to detect.

In small gardens the worms can be picked off by hand or the plants can be sprayed with lead arsenate before the fruits set. Gardeners are reporting success with rotenone spray.

Canada's Indians and Eskimos total only about one per cent of the population.

Motorists Pick Favorite Menace

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—If you are a driver who passes other cars on hills and curves your motorist friends are few.

The Missouri safety bureau recently gave motorists the opportunity of electing "The No. 1 menace of the road." More than 50 per cent of all the votes went to the hill and curve passer.

Second place winner was the "creeper," the fellow who pokes along in fast traffic. In third place was the driver who fails to give signals.

About Obstructions And Obstructions

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Baltimore motorist was acquitted after he told the judge this story:

He was rushing a neighbor's child, choking to death on a noobstruction in the throat, to the hospital. Another car sped across an intersection from the right and there was a crash.

The driver and mother were pulled from the car, suffering minor injuries. But the child had never felt better in his life—the jolt of the crash had dislodged the obstruction.

His Old Violin May Mean New Grave

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—The fiddle are aged Charlie Williams bequeathed to the Wyoming Pioneer Association may rescue his body from the potter's field grave in which it has rested for 10 years.

The instrument, placed in the Wyoming Pioneer cabin, recently was inspected by an authority who said it was one of the first models made by Jacobus Stainer in 1630.

L. C. Bishop, secretary of the association, said if the violin is as valuable as the expert indicated, the body of Williams will be moved from potter's field and given a new burial.

It Can't Happen Here

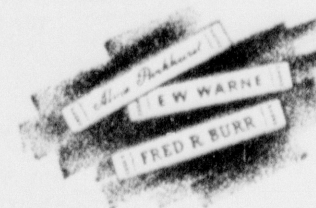

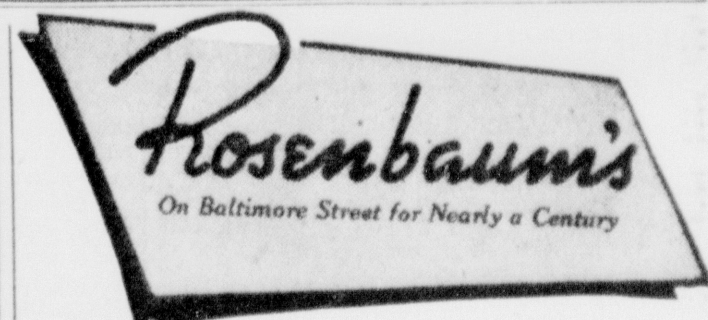

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—Sorry, girls, there's little chance of growing silkworms in this country.

The college of agriculture at Cornell has received many requests about growing mulberry trees on which the silkworms feed. According to Prof. M. B. Hoffman, great efforts have been made to start a national silk industry, starting as early as 1630, but the problems were always the same.

Among them are the trouble in growing the trees; selection of enough of the proper leaves to support the silkworms; and the control of silkworm diseases, which for Orient.

THE DAILY STORY

AGGIE AND BESS

Which Proves That Being a Twin Only Makes the Business of Finding—and Holding—the Right Man Twice as Hard

By GHITA CHRISTIANSEN

The story of Aggie and Bess is a happily becoming tradition at Todd College along with the Rose Day festival and Hazing Week.

I can remember the first time I saw them standing at the north end of the campus talking to the ice cream man. They were waving their hands excitedly as they walked, holding them still only long enough to bite into them. When I came to know them better, I tried to teach them to lick their bars as the rest of us did, but until their last day at school, both of them remained ice cream bingers, and just watching them sink their teeth into the cold bars used to give us the shivers.

Aggie and Bess were identical twins. Both wore their long black hair pulled straight back in a bun, cut both had broad mouths and even white, healthy teeth, both had wide-set brown eyes that either looked excitedly gay or depressingly sad and both looked more like two little Gypsy girls than anything else. That is, they looked like gypsy girls until they got excited and began pulling the hair pins out of their hair. When the thick, shiny, black hair tumbled over their shoulders, waving slightly at the ends from having been rolled up, they looked like two movie stars.

Aggie set next to me in history 2B (although some days Bess slipped in and took her place) and we became quite good friends. But in spite of this, if I met her outside the classroom doors, I was never really sure that it was Aggie I was talking to unless Bess came along and said, "Hi, ya, Aggie!"

The problem of who was who baffled to all but it irritated the young and handsome Mr. Norman who taught history 2B because the very dignified Mr. Norman, who had ignored all the other coeds so commonly, he said coldly, "That did it. The tears that she had been restraining all morning overflowed and Aggie began to sob. Poor Mr. Norman tried to console her and hush her noisy crying, but Aggie couldn't control herself once she had given way to her grief. Mr. Norman would hold Aggie and kiss her one second and the next he would let her go and look distractpletely last semester that we heartily despised him so we said, "had fallen in love with Aggie whom he had been giving special personal instruction in history, mostly personal history, from Aggie's report, delivered in the evening as we lay sprawled around the dormitory."

One day, for a joke, we persuaded Aggie to let Bess go for her "special" history lesson. Afterwards, Bess told us that if Aggie had only told her that she and Mr. Norman were engaged she would have been able to carry the deception through. But when right in the middle of the Revolutionary War Mr. Norman asked her if she had written her folks about "you-know-what" and kissed her, Bess had slapped him, turned up her little nose and declaring "No, I don't know what!" had stormed out of the room and over to the dorm to accuse Aggie of duplicity. "Why I don't even know what's cooking with my own sister!" she had raged. (Bess had picked up slang as easily as Aggie had picked up Mr. Norman.)

And then Aggie had wept and told Bess how much she loved "Douglas" and how they planned on being married soon. Then Bess wept, too, and pretty soon we were all weeping and having a glorious time until Aggie suddenly dried her eyes and said, "What are we crying about anyway? I'm sure Douglas won't beat me and he certainly doesn't look like the type of man who would eat crackers in bed, does he? And with that she passed around a box of chocolates which we finished in a pleasantly mellow mood."

The next day in class I watched Mr. Norman to see how he would treat Aggie. His attitude suggested injured pride. Evidently he thought that Bess's impersonation was Aggie's idea, and he treated her with an excessive formality that had Aggie in tears. Finally I had to take her out of the room because I was sure that she was going to disgrace herself. "I never did like him," I stated furiously as I tried to console Aggie with an ice cream bar.

We had just started on our second bar when Mr. Norman came up to Aggie. "Are you ill?" he asked, gently solicitous. And when Aggie just shook her head because she didn't dare say anything for fear she'd cry, he became stern. "You know I'll have to give you both a demerit for leaving class without permission."

Shanghai American School Is Closed

SHANGHAI (AP). — The largest American seat of learning outside the United States today is closed and shuttered, the victim of war and the threat of war.

The Shanghai American School, representing a half-million dollar investment, does not expect to reopen in September. School authorities hope to keep the plant intact ready for reopening whenever enough students return to justify it.

Without it, American children here (there are still 60 or so) are right back where their parents were thirty years ago. They have no chance for an American high school education.

Deafened Child Can Be Helped By Lip-Reading

"Superior Education Necessary," Says Authority on Deafness

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Yesterday we saw how the child who is hard of hearing might be saved from permanent deafness; that forty-five out of fifty with defective hearing, discovered in time and given proper medical treatment can be cured. Today we shall consider what we might do to help the deafened child overcome or reduce his handicap.

Lip-Reading

To quote Miss Agnes Stowell, authority on deaf and hard of hearing children:

"The hard of hearing child (if the defect is only slight) may have special lip-reading exercise and stay with his class. In certain large cities, notably San Francisco, children with hearing loss are put into a class where they receive special coaching but recite most of their lessons with children of normal hearing. Since this coaching, as a rule, is on the regular school work, the child so coached may have mastered the lessons better than the average child. Returning to his class he may excel.

"But of the 300,000 children in the United States who need to be taught to read the lip, only 40,000 are being taught to do so.

Superior Education Necessary

"Of course, the hard-of-hearing person needs to know more than anybody else in order to seem as smart. Therefore, he needs superior education in order to put him on a fair footing with others. Accordingly

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

REVERSING THE DUMMY
SOME of the prettiest play in bridge is done by tactics which experts call "reversing the dummy." It consists of treating the dummy as the master hand, using the declarer's own trumps for ruffing out the dummy's losers—just the reverse of the usual process, which calls for ruffing the declarer's losers with the dummy's trumps. Usually the choice of this method is made when the dummy is nearer to being a set-up hand than the other one. It is especially spectacular when the dummy has only about three trumps and the declarer five or more.

After the spade 8 knocked out the dummy's A, North saw two opposite ways of planning his play. One was to try to set up his own hand, discarding a couple of diamonds on the dummy's hearts and ruffing a couple of spades. The other was to set up the dummy, using his own hand to ruff a heart or so if necessary to get the suit set up, and using the dummy's three trumps as the key. That is the course he chose.

For the second trick, he laid down the club A and led the J, deciding to play West for the Q because he had bid. The club Q won this, and East fired back his diamond Q to knock out the K, but the A won in the closed hand. The club K then took out the last hostile trump and the 10 was used to get a diamond discard from the dummy—its own unusual play. The heart 5 to the A, then the K and Q showed West with the high J. So the heart 2, ruffed by the club 9 settled that. Then the diamond 3 to the K furnished entry for the heart 10 and 3, completing the contract.

If North had guessed East for the club Q, he would have made 13 tricks by this style of play. Those who tried other methods in the same duplicate were set.

to be guided in approach to his life work. He doesn't need to feel he must get an earless job, as so often is suggested to him. While one would not advise the hard-of-hearing youth to train to be a teacher or stenographer, yet there are some school teachers and stenographers with defective hearing who are successful, because they compensate for this defect by the use of good hearing aids. We can take these hearing aids into account, as they are getting better and better. No person should be shut out of anything because of hearing.

Child Must Be Frank

"The child should be led to evaluate his own hearing impairment and estimate how much his lip reading and his own ability have enabled him to overcome his handicap. He must be frank with himself and not bluff.

"The child wants understanding but not pity. The hard-of-hearing child should not be interrupted as he reads, for example. Also parents should wait till they have his attention before making a request or command."

Solving Parent Problems

Q. When a child who really tries at his books fails in history, geography, or science, what is his probable trouble?

A. Very probably he is a poor reader. Any one may have, without cost, a copy of my "Home Helps for Poor Readers," by writing me at 235 East North-fifth street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

Iceland's Blondes Are No Menace, Miss Fairfax Says

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX, Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage—Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

If you want to see blondes—real blondes—who've never even heard of peroxide or its derivatives, you've got to go to Iceland.

The look like the fabled princesses you envied as a child, when you turned over the pages of your fairy book and wished you could have beautiful golden hair. That, at least, was the remembrance evoked in a hard-boiled reporter after a brief tourist's glimpse of Iceland some years ago.

And now that our American forces have streamed into Reykjavik's harbor, American sweethearts and wives are worrying a bit over these natural blondes. They've written something like this: "When the peroxide drive them crazy, what's to be expected of the natives?"

But they needn't be disturbed. The Icelandic girls are as straight-laced as the early Victorians. Besides, British, Canadians and Americans are somewhat suspect, as there is a good deal of German blood in Iceland.

Highlanders Shocking

When a highland Battalion arrived in Iceland a year before our Americans landed, the young ladies almost fainted at the "kilties" keeping step to the pipers, playing their regimental march on wailing bagpipes. A whisper spread among the blondes that soldiers dressed in this fashion were known, during the first World War as "ladies from Hell."

The blondes thought they were well-named.

The stoicism of Highlanders was demonstrated to the people of the Land of the Midnight Sun by a uniform which demanded bare legs. The native blondes, it developed, didn't thaw to the British and Canadian forces as the months passed, even though the soldiers entertained some three hundred children at Reykjavik, took them to the movies, and treated them to chocolates.

Unfriendliness toward British and Canadian forces on the part of the Icelanders was due largely to Nazi propaganda, which had long been busy at their Fifth Column enterprises. A more friendly attitude developed as the months passed, and the Icelanders realized that the "ladies from Hell" were human, in spite of their costumes. Still, the blondes remained frozen.

Threat With Penalty

Then leaked out the terrible threat held over these girls, if they should thaw to the British and Canadian soldiers. An identical threat would probably be welcomed by their American and British sisters as a great saving of beauty parlor money.

The menace was warning that if the Icelandic girls were found associating with the British and Canadians and English, but there will be no thawing. Distinctly, it's in favor of the American soldiers that they wear "pants." The "kilties" in America need not worry over what's going to happen to your

Medical Experts Hold That Epilepsy Is Physical and not Mental Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The Laymen's League against Epilepsy, established at the Harvard Medical School, Boston, is an organization composed of the best informed, public-spirited physicians, and has as its object to keep the public informed about the progress on epilepsy and related diseases.

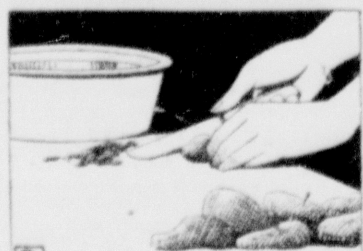

More than that, its object is to carry our modern knowledge of epilepsy to those who need it, to dispel the taboos and superstitions which exist, and to try to teach the people who have these periodic spells that they are not outcasts from society or mentally deranged, and that there is nothing to be ashamed of in this condition any more than there is in any other ordinary disease.

In pursuance of this objective, an extremely valuable expression of the modern viewpoint on this condition is contained in a book called "Epilepsy and Seizures" by Dr. William C. Lennox of the Harvard Medical School (Harper & Bros., Paul H. Hoeber, 1941). This book treats not only of epilepsy but also of migraines, headaches which are seizures of the innermost related kind. Most of the taboos and popular ideas about these conditions are fully discussed.

Two great contributions have recently been made to the study of epilepsy by Boston physicians. One is a machine which can record the electric pulsations of the brain. These are picked up from the scalp and made to write a line. All people subject to epilepsy produce a pattern on this record. Different types are also recorded by the commercial related kind. Most of the taboos and popular ideas about these conditions are fully discussed.

The second discovery is the use of dilantin to prevent or minimize the epileptic attacks.

WIFE PRESERVERS

If you want to cut dried fruits, hold your knife or scissors under cold water occasionally. You will get rid of the stickiness in this way.

There are many different kinds of epilepsy and there are many different causes for the seizures. The most important thing for a person subject to seizures to know is that a great deal of help can be given by the modern physician with modern methods. There is nothing to be ashamed of in the condition and anyone who is subject to it should consult a physician. The doctor can give him a great deal of help. Mental impairment may be the result of frequent seizures and when these are properly understood, the state of mind is improved.

A remarkable instance is that of a twenty-three-year-old man who had frequent seizures since childhood. He never learned to read or write. With the administration of the medicine, dilantin, which stopped his seizures, the man began to learn with great rapidity and in the course of six months, his mental age rose from six years to a level of ten years.

Questions and Answers
Q. H. "Is the drinking of buttermilk recommended on a reducing diet?"

Answer: Yes.
S. B. M. "Is living in a three-room apartment doing justice to a small child? This question is of interest to many married couples with a small child on a limited income. We have a bedroom, living room, bath, and a good-sized kitchen; also a back porch with plenty of sunshine. Our child sleeps twelve hours every night and two hours during the day, but is the noise harmful to her even though she sleeps well? Naturally, we do not have any big parties but she is conscious of low talking when friends come in. We cannot live in isolation and shun our friends, but are we doing an injustice to her?"

Answer: It seems to me this child is decidedly not underprivileged, and I am afraid you are falling into the habit that many mothers acquire of fussy apprehension.

"It's indecent, grossly indecent," Hamilton decreed, and turned his back.

While they stood there in pretended disdain in a mutual amity actually, the first bluish-yellow tinges of dawn touched the eastern sky. The Malecon lights were extinguished in a series, leaving little tufts of smoke. Ylena ate. Scott smoked. No other passengers were up. Several minutes passed while they remained quiet, enjoying to the utmost that absurd childish feeling that the ship belonged to them.

Scott broke the silence. "Ylena,

Castle of Contentment

By LORENA CARLETON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CAPITAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

IN A LISTLESS early morning darkness Ylena answered a knock at her door. Scott stood there, looking a tray.

"Four o'clock and you're not up yet? How do you ever expect to amount to anything in life?" He crowded by her into the small stateroom and deposited the loaded tray. "Tea. With the captain's compliments. See how lucky you are to know me, because I know the captain." And stop yawning in my face, Ylena, and hurry, for gosh sakes! Morro's just come in sight."

"Well, take it away again!" Rose grumbled from a half-sleep and pulled the sheet over her face.

Scott laughed good naturedly and left. Battling foginess, the girl groped with teapot and cup. She sipped some tea, slowly quashed her face with cold water, drank some more tea and abruptly found her drowsiness slipping into enthusiasm. Suddenly afraid she might miss something, she began to work with speed, hurrying into her clothes, tying a handkerchief peasant style about loose hair. She grabbed two buttered slices of thick breakfast toast, goused them plentifully with jelly, and left the cabin.

Scott was waiting. He took her by the hand and led her to the rail. "Isn't it gorgeous?" This thick darkness, the wind sweeping out from the land. He sniffed the air. "We must be at least 20 miles away, but even so, you can smell Cuba, that sort of lush odor of sweet decay—lord, how I love the sea! I wish I could be on a boat all the time."

The girl hit widely into toast and jelly. "You certainly picked a handy homeland, sailor. Right in the middle of the desert?"

"Oh, I'm not really complaining." He looked down into her face. "I like being exactly where I am. Al-room, bath, and a good-sized kitchen; also a back porch with plenty of sunshine. Our child sleeps twelve hours every night and two hours during the day, but is the noise harmful to her even though she sleeps well? Naturally, we do not have any big parties but she is conscious of low talking when friends come in. We cannot live in isolation and shun our friends, but are we doing an injustice to her?"

Answer: It seems to me this child is decidedly not underprivileged, and I am afraid you are falling into the habit that many mothers acquire of fussy apprehension.

"It's indecent, grossly indecent," Hamilton decreed, and turned his back.

While they stood there in pretended disdain in a mutual amity actually, the first bluish-yellow tinges of dawn touched the eastern sky. The Malecon lights were extinguished in a series, leaving little tufts of smoke. Ylena ate. Scott smoked. No other passengers were up. Several minutes passed while they remained quiet, enjoying to the utmost that absurd childish feeling that the ship belonged to them.

Scott broke the silence. "Ylena,

Barrymore's Latest
Tops His Wackiest

Headed by John Barrymore, a cargo of film comedians is now showing in Paramount's Hollywood burlesque, "World Premiere."

The troupe has all the color of a three-ringed circus bent on clowning Hollywood's pride and joy—the spectacular lavishness with which they preview their grand-scale productions.

Barrymore plays the role of a mad genius producer, with Frances Farmer, Ricardo Cortez and Virginia Dale as his movie stars, and Eugene Palette as his troubled financial backer.

Comic spies try to sabotage Barrymore's great movie masterpiece because it is bad propaganda for certain foreign powers, leading the plot into still wackier lanes. As the hilarious adventure unfolds, a spy romance takes place that develops into a murder mystery aboard the premiere-bound train. But these are only a few of the riotous situations that mark the coming film of Barrymore's legendary career as a Hollywood film producer.

"Footsteps in Dark"
Opens at Garden

"Footsteps in the Dark" will be the next feature attraction at the Garden theater starting today. Errol Flynn heads the cast, with Brenda Marshall for his leading lady. Also featured with them are Ralph Bellamy, Alan Hale, Lee Patrick, Allen Jenkins, Lucille Watson and many others. The film is a swiftly-paced mystery comedy, with smart modern settings.

The Bumsteads go musical—as Blondie leads Dagwood a merry dance! Your favorite fun family on a cruise that makes the wild waves wilder! Rolling down to Rio on waves of laughter and melody. "Blondie Goes Latin"—and how! Newest of the laugh-packed Bumstead family's misadventures, "Blondie Goes Latin" opens today at the Garden theater to present Penny Singleton, Arthur Lake, Larry Simms and Daisy the family pooch, in another uproarious Columbia comedy. Tito Guitierrez, famous Mexican singing star, and lovely Ruth Terry head the featured cast.

THEY'RE JUST WATERFRONT FOLKS

Wallace Beery, Marjorie Main and Virginia Weidler in "Barnacle Bill," which opens tomorrow on the Maryland screen. The new comedy deals with the sanguine adventures of Beery as a shiftless roustabout who finds love and adventure on the waterfront.

PERFECT SPOT FOR 'WORLD PREMIERE'

Barrymore, a mad Hollywood movie maker, looks the world over with his two temperamental stars, Ricardo Cortez and Frances Farmer. He's just picked a spot to premiere their film in Paramount's farce "World Premiere" which is now showing at the Strand theater.

"Three Sons o' Guns"
Cavort at Liberty

A trio of carefree fellows who take America for granted and start looking over exemption possibilities as soon as their questionnaires for the draft arrive provides the unusual twist in Warner Bros.' fast-moving new film, "Three Sons O' Guns," which opened at the Liberty theater yesterday.

The title roles are filled by three zesty young fellows, the popular Wayne Morris, Tom Brown and William Orr. Their perplexed mother is portrayed by the lovely Irene Rich and the great character actress Marjorie Main plays the aunt who came to tea ten years ago and is still living with the family. Beautiful and piquant screen newcomer Suzanne Peters adds the romantic interest.

Tom is the youngest of the boys, a spoiled, self-centered brat. Then comes Bill, who fancies himself an actor and surrounds himself with a phony theatrical troupe. The third son is Wayne, the family's only employed member, who keeps losing his jobs because of his practicing the trombone in the washrooms. None of the trio has even had a responsible moment.

Funniest Sweethearts
Are Together Again

"Barnacle Bill," starring Wallace Beery in his first waterfront adventure since "Min and Bill," and plunging him into the most hilarious romance of his screen career, is the attraction opening tomorrow at the Maryland theater.

Beery plays a waterfront roustabout who suddenly finds himself in love with a domineering sweetheart who makes him go to work, and at the same time is faced with the care of a small daughter he hasn't seen since she was a baby.

Getting a job on a fishing boat, he gets into a dispute with the combine controlling the refrigerator boats, figures in a sensational fight and becomes a waterfront hero.

Marjorie Main, who appeared with him in "Wyoming," plays the sweetheart of the story. She and Beery figure in many hilarious episodes, such as their comical duet, and Miss Main and Connie Gilchrist stage a hair-pulling battle over him. There are tender moments with little Virginia Weidler, playing the daughter, and Beery and Leo Carrillo figure in numerous comical scrapes and adventures along the waterfront.

It is now against the law in England for a motorist to stop his car without stopping the engine.

"Redhead" To Open
On Embassy Screen

Featuring a cast that includes Johnny Downs, June Lang, Eric Blore and Anna Chandler, Monogram's "Redhead," sparkling comedy drama, opens tomorrow at the Embassy theater.

"Redhead" marks the return to the screen of Miss Lang, recognized as one of the most beautiful young actresses in Hollywood, after an absence of more than a year. While at the height of her career, Miss Lang married and elected to retire from the screen. The lure of films proved too strong, however, and she is making her "comeback" in the role of "Dale Carter."

On original story by Vera Brown, "Redhead" relates the manner in which the wastrel son of a wealthy man is reformed. It is a gay, charming picture that whips to strong dramatic heights, but is tempered with a hilarious comedy strain.

The picture introduces Anna

Chandler to film audiences. A few seasons ago, Miss Chandler was one of the outstanding vocalists of Europe and America, but also went into retirement and makes her screen debut in "Redhead."

Stock Market Picks Up Rallying Vigor with Gains Registered

Transfers of 458,930 Compared with 330,370 on Monday

By BERNARD S. O'HARA
NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—The stock market picked up a little more rallying vigor in today's market and topped off gains of fractions to a point or so for favorites.

Best recoveries were witnessed in the forenoon when volume also was largest. Quoted values were shaded after mid-day and many leaders finished under their tops. Dealings also slowed toward the last. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks held a net advance of .2 of a point at 43.3. Transfers of 458,930 shares compared with 330,370 Monday.

Corporate earnings figures mostly were optimistic although there were exceptions due to heavy tax provisions.

Among stocks emerging with advances were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Kennecott, Standard Oil (N.J.), Warner Bros., Commercial Solvents, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck, Boeing and Douglas Aircraft.

Jones and Laughlin skidded to a new year's low on a Pittsburgh federal court "show cause" order regarding payment of dividends on the concern's new common and preferred stock.

Gainers in a slightly spotty curb included Humble Oil, Aluminum of America, Phoenix Securities and Venezuelan Petroleum. On the off-side were American Gas, St. Regis Paper and Niagara Hudson Power. Turnover here was around 102,000 shares versus 69,000 yesterday.

The bond market scored a general gain of fractions to around a point under leadership of rails. Trading expanded to $6,713,300, par value, from $4,901,800 on Monday. The Associated Press average of 20 rails ended up 4 of a point at 63.2, the best average gain for this group since July 21. Other groups in the index reflected marked steadiness.

All the Comforts of Home—Almost, In Wood Barracks Planned for Army

"This is what I mean when I say tenting has been streamlined," says Private John Rothe, relaxing after a day's work. Shades of Napoleon—look at that portable radio!

Experimental barrack of wood, contrasted with open-sided canvas and wood tents at Lowry Field, Denver. Wood barrack may be closed against dust because it is insulated.

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
AP Feature Service Writer
DENVER.—In the words of Private John Rothe, "Boy, the old tenting technique sure has been streamlined!"

Private Rothe, from Enid, Okla., is one of eight guinea pigs in an Army experiment to determine feasibility of eliminating tents at all army posts.

At Lowry field, near Denver, the first unit of a portable, eight-man barrack has been set up for trial. If it's a success Army officials indicate, it may be adopted at all Army Camps.

Cost about $300 Each
The barrack is made of wood, double-walled for insulation. Its three windows and door are screened. It has electrical outlets and a stove, and it cost about $300. Major Ira Wharton, post utilities officer, says that in view of the advantages the cost is "unbelievably low."

The canvas of the canvas-and-wood tents now in use has to be replaced periodically. Army experts say portable barracks probably would outlast "this present emergency."

"A swell thing about this new barrack is that it keeps the dust out of your clothes in the summer and the snow out of your face in the winter," says Rothe and his fellow guinea pigs.

Favorable Report Seen
The Army has asked the eight men to make a report and give their opinions of the building. From all indications, the report will be unanimously favorable.

Soldiers in the tent city at Lowry field had to be moved indoors last October because of the cold. Tents weren't reoccupied until spring.

The new barrack is a year-around shelter. It is 18x24 feet and can be set up in a few hours. All lumber is stock dimension and carpenters have only to cut a dozen or so of the boards to place them together.

Fragrant Smell of Flowers May Mean Deadly Poison Gas Instead of Pretty Blossoms

Soldier sprayed by lewisite that burns through skin into blood stream is "an absolute litter case."

Step in decontaminating victim of mustard gas

Gas-masked soldier advances through deadly gas clouds

By PVT. C. D. VORMELKER
(Former Central Press employee, now in the headquarters squadron, 35th pursuit group)

SELFRIDGE FIELD, Mich., Aug. 26.—When war and enemy bombing planes come to your city—if they do—and you think you detect the fragrant odor of flowers or apple blossoms—get into your gas mask. Those nice smells won't be from flowers, but from some form of deadly poison gas. I ought to know, for I've just been given whiffs of all the most common death-dealing vapors as part of my army training.

A line of G. I. government-issue trucks took several hundred of us from our barracks to the gas demonstration field lying between grassy level Selfridge field and the distant Michigan woods. There, First Lieut. Frederick G. Schneider, instructor in chemical warfare, explained what was to be done.

Smell for Yourself

He told us that tubes of lethal gas in very weak solutions, placed under the surface of the earth, were wired to a central control battery some distance away. We were instructed to skirt the edges of the gas clouds as they were released and experience for ourselves the effect of each. The gases to be used included mustard, chloropierin, lewisite, phosgene and tear gas.

"At a signal from me," Lieut. Schneider said, "the chemical will be exploded at 10-minute intervals. When you sight the cloud moving toward you, walk into the outskirts of it without your mask and retreat rapidly against the wind. The solutions used here are weak—only five per cent—but to avoid any possible danger to yourself, step into the cloud briefly, only long enough to familiarize yourself with the agent's characteristics."

I heard the first explosion and immediately saw a cloud of yellowish vapor forming and moving toward me. The air smelled strongly of horseradish, although some of the men declared the gas smelled more like garlic. I'll never forget the odor of mustard gas. I stepped out the cloud swiftly and awaited the next explosion, my eyes smarting.

"That was mustard, a vesicant gas, one of the most lethal and persistent," said the lieutenant. "It blisters the skin and results in severe inflammation of the lungs and eyes."

Flowers and Hay

Successively, I experienced the effects of chloropierin, an oily liquid changing slowly to a colorless gas, which smelled like flowers; phosgene, a gas that seemed charged with the odor of new-mown hay and appeared first as a white and then colorless gas. I walked through another cloud of gas that smelled like flowers, yet it is very lethal—lewisite. Chloracethenone, one of the lacrimators or tear-producing gases, smells like apple blossoms, yet its effect is such that a man can be put out of action for a long time if he gets a whiff of a heavy concentration of the gas.

I feel the same way about this gas demonstration that a child does who has been burned by touching a hot stove. One is not likely to forget the things that menace his life.

In addition to keeping alert, the gas mask affords the soldier protection against gas, if used in time. I went through the gas chamber and, as part of the demonstration, I took off my mask. That was to teach us fear of gas and although the gas used was a harmless concentration of ordinary tear gas, I left the chamber hurriedly, choking and spluttering and crying. In a few moments the wind cleared my eyes and I was normal again.

So—I have been gassed for the purpose of protecting myself. The United States army takes care of its soldiers and gives them every needed training and instruction.

E. P. Welshonce, B&O Trainmaster, Retires in Keyser

Railroad Official Completes Forty-five Years of Active Service

KEYSER, W. Va., August 26.—E. P. Welshonce, 107 South Main street, Keyser, "oldest" trainmaster on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad system, is retiring after twenty-eight years of service. Welshonce, who has been with the B&O for forty-five years, became trainmaster of the Cumberland division in B&O as telegraph operator at Ely's, 1913.

He entered the service of the creek at the east end of the east-bound yards, Cumberland, after four years with the Pennsylvania Railroad. Two years later he became train dispatcher for the East end of the Cumberland division, and in 1900 was promoted to the post of chief night train dispatcher.

From 1904 until 1907 he served as division operator of the Cumberland division, and was then made chief train dispatcher.

Until 1911 Welshonce held this position and then was transferred to Baltimore, where he occupied the post of assistant to General Superintendent Blasen in charge of power. He moved to Keyser in 1913 when he was made trainmaster of the Cumberland division and has held the position ever since.

Beloved of trainmen, the short, husky trainmaster was always on the spot when trouble occurred in his division, puffing on his "Gom Paul" pipe and offering words of advice instead of words of censure.

Teheran Is Calm

More than 100 German women and children are trying voluntarily to leave, but there are difficulties in obtaining Turkish visas and transportation out of Iran.

Teheran itself was an extraordinarily calm city in the crisis. Most Iranians learned something was afoot when Britons were rounded up in their legation compounds, one in downtown Teheran and the other in suburban Gulbek, after a mid-night warning. Approximately 150 Britons and 200 Indians were so protected.

Shops in Teheran opened punctually and Iranian officers strolled leisurely in the city's squares. There were no air raid precautions.

American legation staff members, American missionaries and this correspondent, the only American correspondent in Teheran today, circulated freely.

story that some supplies sent to England under the Lease-Lend act had been sold elsewhere in competition with American products.

Contract Fulfilled

This report, Mr. Roosevelt replied, originated in the fact that long before the Lease-Lend program began, the British had contracts for the delivery of steel to Argentina. The contracts were fulfilled, he said, and the steel delivered. It was not, he added, American steel, although at the same time, the British were obtaining steel here under the Lease-Lend law.

But, he added, no one in his wildest dream would say that the steel delivered to Argentina was Lease-Lend stuff. That sort of thing was a half-truth. Mr. Roosevelt continued, and just as he was about to say more.

Alexander Captures Amateur Golf Medal

North Carolina Dark Horse Wins With 144 Total

Johnny Burke, Former Intercollegiate Champion, Second

By BILL BONT

OMAHA, Aug. 26. (AP)—The fear-some, bogey-filled creation which is the back nine of the Omaha Field club doused cold water on the medal hopes of some of the country's finest amateur golfers today, and pitched the medal right into the lap of unsuspecting Stewart (Skip) Alexander.

The 23-year-old six-footer from Burlington, N. C., five under par in yesterday's first round with a 67 that set a competitive course record, went ten shots higher today with a 77 for 144. When he finished his round, after taking a seven on the par-five seventeenth, he must have been sure he'd kicked away all chance at leading the field.

Johnny Burke Second
For there were seven men within six shots of his starting the second half of the 36-hole qualifying test, and all of them still were on the course when Skip checked in.

But one by one his rivals frittered away their chances on the back nine's slim fairways and its slick, trick greens. Johnny Burke, who had a 68 yesterday, had the best opportunity of all, until he passed the ninth. In the last nine holes the red-headed former intercollegiate champion went five over par for a 77 of his own and 145 total gave him second place.

Elsworth Vines, the former tennis champ, Ted Bishop, New England title holder and a former professional, and Otto Greiner, recent University of Maryland graduate, were working on opening par 72's. But Bishop could do no better than 38 on the back nine, for 77 and 149; it took Vines thirty-nine blows for a 78 and 150, and Greiner needed forty-two shots to come home for an even 80 and 152.

Ward Cards 148
Nor was the Field club back nine, which for this round took on almost the qualities of a living monster, through with that performance. It threw a 39 at Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., the 1939 champion and favorite, and he wound up with 75 for 148. It cost Dick Chapman, the defending champion and 1940 medalist, a 41 for 78 and 152.

Ray Billows, finalist twice in four years, could get no better than a 40 for 83 and barely qualified at 158—159 was the limit, and ten men played for seven places to complete the sixty-four match play berth.

Among its other principal victims were such stars as Wilford Wehrle of Chicago, a semi-finalist last year, 40 for 77 and 157; and Harry Todd, former western champion from Dallas, Tex., 44 for 81 and 157.

159's in Playoff
OMAHA, Aug. 26. (AP)—Seven of the ten players in the National amateur golf championship field who shot 159's on the first hole of a playoff this evening, the thereby became eligible for the match play which begins tomorrow.

The par shooters were Ted Gwin, Tulsa, Okla.; Richard Durkin, Portland, Ore.; Gene Dahlbender, 17-year-old Atlanta lad; Richard Allman, Philadelphia; Bobby Riegel, Houston, Tex.; Neil Cronquist, Minneapolis; and Harold Stewart, Detroit.

Art Pomy of Detroit, National Public Links semi-finalist this year, and P. Samuel Wiley Jr., Wilmington, Del., lost out on five's, while Morris Fisher of Council Bluffs, Ia., took a six.

Mt. Lake Junior Net Play Starts
MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, Aug. 26.—The annual Mountain Lake Park junior tennis tournament got under way today but only a few matches were played on account of rain.

In the boys' singles, Richard Garrett, Morgantown, W. Va., defeated Fred Sharps, Oakland, 6-0, 6-2; Robert Dittie, Oakland, eliminated Ray McCutchen, Washington, D. C., by default; and William Steiner, Uniontown, Pa., topped Dittie, 6-1, 6-1.

David Weber of Oakland and David Hood of Washington had their match interrupted by rain. Each had won one set and Weber was leading 3-0 in the third. The contest will be finished tomorrow.

In the only girls' singles encounter, Mary Lois Crane of Detroit topped Alice Mirick, Washington, 6-4, 6-3. The drawings for the girls' and mixed doubles follow:

LONG SHOT WINS

A long shot from North Carolina, Stewart M. 'Skip' Alexander, smiles after winning medal honors in the 36-hole qualifying test of the National amateur golf championship yesterday with a total score of 144. In the first round, he shot a five-under-par 67 to set a competitive course record.

Pittsburgh Bucs, Boston's Braves Split Twin-Bill

Veteran Jim Tobin Wins Opener 4-3 -- Pirates Cop Nightcap 6-1

BOSTON, Aug. 26. (AP)—After the veteran Jim Tobin gained his eleventh win for the Boston Braves by limiting the Pittsburgh Pirates to four hits and a 4-3 decision, the visitors clouted three of his battery mates for a 6-1 triumph to divide today's doubleheader.

One of the Pirates' few first game hits was Vince DiMaggio's triple with the bases loaded in the fourth inning, when they pulled into a 3-2 lead. The Braves, however, tied the count in the fifth and Lou Grep singled in Ray Berres with the winning run in the eighth.

The Pirates clinched the second game against Starter Dick Erickson in the fifth when, during a three-run rally, Al Lopez homered after DiMaggio doubled. The boxscore:

you try to bring up the argument that the competition for the other champion was more robust, you're trusting to your memory again.

And as for baseball, the Cardinals and Dodgers play it like it was first-cousin to a bull fight. And just a couple of days ago we read that Rudy York had been playing with a broken wrist, and was going to keep on playing now that the season is nearly over.

Other athletes may be soft, but so is a rubber ball, and it takes a lot of bouncing around.

Parsons Cubs Trim Daily Outfit, 5-3
PARSONS W. VA., Aug. 26.—The Parsons Club trounced the Home-stand club of Daily 5-3 in a recent game here with "Red" Baker, Parsons, ace, striking out nine and scattering seven hits. Robert Hinzman, Daily flinger, whiffed five and yielded six blows with Plumb getting two.

Coppers and Elks Will Clash Friday
Arrangements have been made by the City Police and the B. P. O. Elks to stage their playoff game for the first half championship of the Rocking Chair Softball League at 5:30 p. m. Friday on the Port Hill field.

Darkness Halts Second County Loop Title Tilt

Grocers and Cubs To Complete Game Next Week -- Score Tied 7-7

Darkness yesterday interrupted the second game of the five-game series for the Allegany County Softball League championship between the Wilkinson Grocers and the Potomac Valley Cubs.

Meeting at Community Park here and with the Cubs hoping to avenge a 4-3 loss to the first half winners Monday, the clash was called in the first of the fifth with the score deadlocked at 7-7.

Since all playoff tussles must be resumed at the point of interruption. Next Wednesday evening has been set as the date for the completion of the tussle. The third skirmish will be staged next Thursday, September 4, on Potomac Valley's diamond.

Cubs Start Early
Yesterday, the Cubs gathered five runs in the first. Chaney walked, Paul Kemp was safe on Grimes's error, H. Stouffer walked and Phillips was given a base on balls to force in the first tally. Grimes then singled, Dale Broadwater popped to short but the catcher missed the throw to home and I. Stouffer singled to complete the outburst.

Potomac Valley got its other two markers in the fifth. Pitcher Leo Kismore, who had relieved Luoma on the mound, singled, Chaney doubled and Kemp batted out a two-bagger. It was at this point that the contest was called.

Scaletta's Triple Timely
The Grocers got to Gene Scaletta for one run in the first on two walks, Brown's single and an infield out; another in the second on a walk, Whitman's single, an error and an outfield fly; two in the third on Brown's single, a base on balls, an error, another walk and Selzer's single, and three in the fourth on walks to Helmick and Brown, a wild pitch another free ticket to first and Scaletta's triple to right which cleaned the sacks. Scaletta was thrown out attempting to extend his clout into a home run.

Athletics Move Into Sixth Place
A's Sweep Both Ends of Bargain Bill with Tigers, 9-1 and 2-1
DETROIT, Aug. 26. (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics, making their final appearance of the season here, moved into sixth place in the American League race by sweeping both ends of a bargain bill from the Detroit Tigers today, 9 to 1 and 2 to 1.

In the opener, the A's chased Louis (Buck) Newsom to the showers in seven innings, handing him his seventeenth defeat of the season.

Aging Irving (Bumps) Hadley had to come to the rescue of Jack Knott in the ninth inning of the nightcap after Rip Radcliff had walked and Barney McCosky had singled. Hadley retired the next three batters but the Tigers averted a shutout when Radcliff scored on Rudy York's grounder.

The A's scored both their runs off Paul (Dizzy) Trout in the fourth on singles by Benny McCoy and Frankie Hayes, Wally Moses's sacrifice, Bob Johnson's grounder, and Dick Siebert's double. The scores:

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 26.—A racing official was saying the other day that one of the mistakes most popular among horse-players, especially lady horse-players, is to bet jockeys instead of horses.

"You have to assume first of all," he said, "that all races are honest. That's a hell of a big assumption. We know some races are crooked. But you can't stop them ahead of time unless you are a roommate of a trainer or jockey who talks in his sleep, so the average better or handicapper must go on the theory that the race is just what it appears to be.

"All right, it is fundamentally a horse race, not a jockey race. Unless two horses are practically dead even in other respects, the name of the jockey on his back doesn't make much difference. A good rider will help somewhat, a poor jockey will hurt somewhat by making mistakes, but in forty-nine cases out of fifty the first horse at the weights will win regardless.

"Yet you wander around the track before a race and you hear better—particularly women—say 'I'm going to bet Arcaro in this race' or 'I'd bet on such-and-such' if Breen wasn't on him' or 'I'm picking so-and-so because I like Westrope better than James'. That doesn't make sense. Always consider the horse first. If you can't make up your mind between two horses, then consider the jockeys.

The Human Element

The good sense of this hypothesis must be pretty obvious to any horse-player who still has his sanity—but it's hard for even the coolest handicapper among us amateurs, to ignore the horse's rider entirely. He represents the human element and also most of the color in a race, since horses as units all look alike to the man who pays his way in. They eat oats, they wear saddles, they run, and that from the average bettor's point of view, is all there is to it.

Therefore the better watches the jockey's idiosyncrasies instead of the horse's. Take Conn McCreary, the tiny ninety-pounder from St. Louis, the most celebrated rider of the early part of this year. McCreary is famous for his stretch rides. Bettors at the current Saratoga meeting have noticed that McCreary rarely wins the sprints, but when he has a good horse at a mile or more he is apt to come from behind in the stretch and win.

They say McCreary has to have distance, and has to come from behind. To win. They also feel that he "lays back" too far in the early part of the race. McCreary has heard all this, and denies it all.

"When they claim I lay back too far," he says, "it's just another way of calling me a lousy rider. I don't think I'm a lousy rider. I may not know as much about rating a horse as some of the jocks who have been around for years, but I'm learning, and I think I know pace pretty good.

"Sometimes I'll lay back. Sometimes I'll stay with the pace or make the pace myself. That all depends on the horse, as any jock knows, and what the trainer can tell you about the horse.

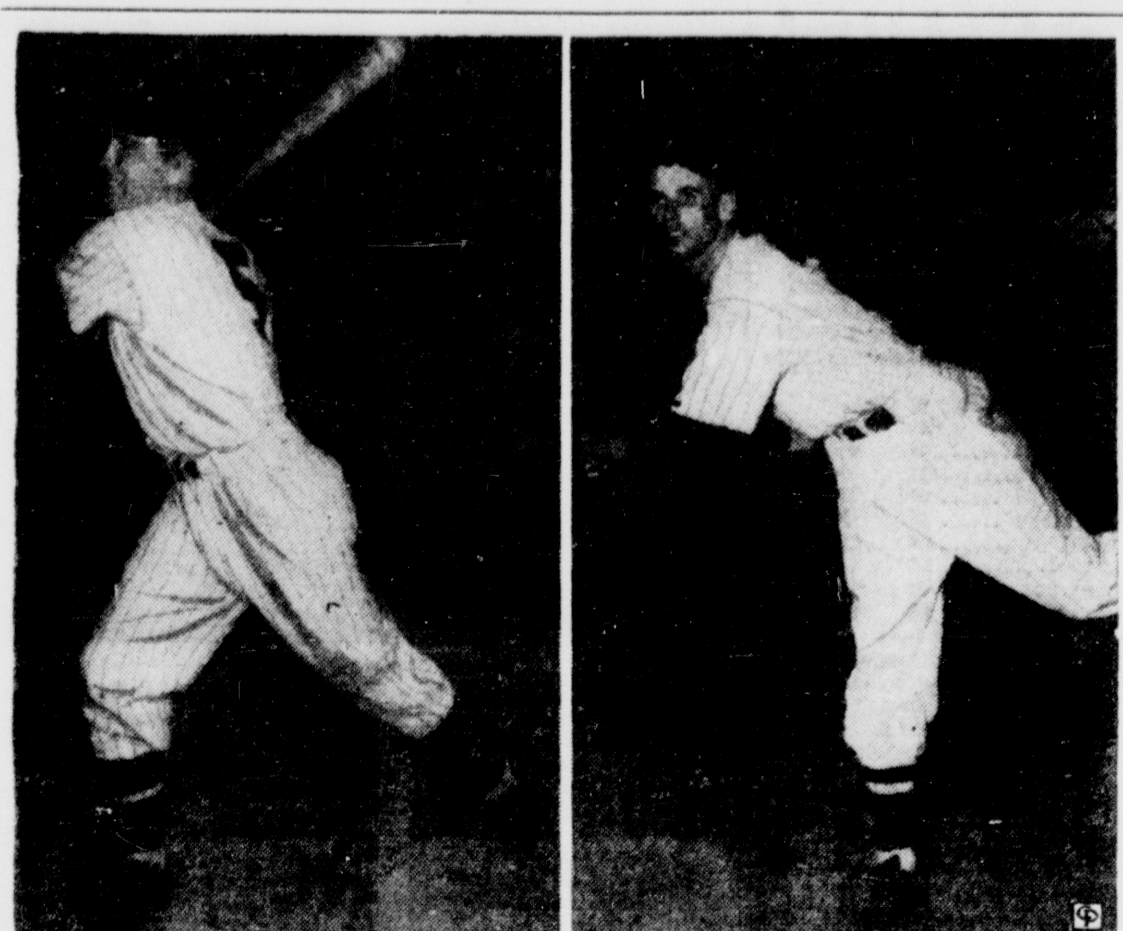

"I may not be winning sprints at this meet but I've won plenty at other meets. Any rider can give you the answer to that one: Horses. If you have the good horses, you win. At any kind of distance."

Horse Curs Shumps
This seems to bear out the argument we quoted at the start of this column. It also agrees with the pronouncement of Eddie Arcaro, one of the shrewdest of modern jockeys: "No rider ever had a slump that a good horse wouldn't cure."

Naturally, since they are all business rivals, the jockeys like to have their identities and their special talents played up. You will hear it said that Pollard is cute as a fox, that Meade's strong hands will get a horse out of the gate faster than another man's, that Anderson has a peculiar genius with two-year-olds — and Pollard, Meade, and Anderson will certainly not deny the accusations.

But almost all jockeys, in their philosophical moments, subscribe to one truth: If you have the horse, you don't need much else. With surprising unanimity they admit that most of the public's credo about jockeys—that a rider can "lift" a horse out of the gate, or talk to him like an uncle in the

DODGERS BRING UP THESE TWO FROM ATLANTA TEAM

Lester Burge... first sacker
Bob Chipman... pitcher
Already seeking to strengthen the club for the pennant drive and for 1942, the Brooklyn Dodgers have purchased two of the outstanding players in the Southern Association for fall delivery. They are Bob Chipman, 22-year-old pitcher, who has won thirteen games against seven losses, and Lester Burge, first baseman, who has hammered out thirty-four home runs in 110 games. Both are with the Atlanta Crackers.

Pen-Mar Baseball Loop Playoff Series Will Start September 7

With Cumberland's Old Germans, Wellersburg, Mt. Savage and Centerville assured of places, the Pen-Mar Baseball League's championship playoff will get under way Sunday, September 7.

Arrangements for the playoff were made at a meeting of the loop last night in the Junior Order hall at Mt. Savage and although the season has several weeks to go, the clubs that will take part have already been decided. However, closing contests will determine in which order Wellersburg, Mt. Savage and Centerville finish. The Old Germans have clinched the No. 1 spot.

In playoff openers, the third place club will play the Old Germans on the latter's field and the fourth place team will engage the second place outfit on the latter's diamond. The sites will be reversed for second games on Sunday, September 14.

Two Umps for Series Games
If third games are necessary in the preliminary series, they will be staged Sunday, September 21, with the sites to be determined by the loss of a coin. If no third games are needed, the preliminary series winners will open their best-of-three series on September 21 with the second contest on September 28 and the third, if necessary, on October 5.

The league decided to try to secure Bi-State League umpires for the playoff. Two arbiters will be used in each contest. If third games are necessary to decide any of the series, the clubs will split the gate receipts.

League officers ruled that there was no interference by Batter Alton Nave of Centerville in a game with Wellersburg and protested by the latter club and that the contest would stand as played—a victory for the Reds. In the ninth, with the bases loaded and no hands retired and Nave at bat, Wellersburg put on the squeeze play. Wellersburg claimed that Nave interfered with the play at home when a run scored.

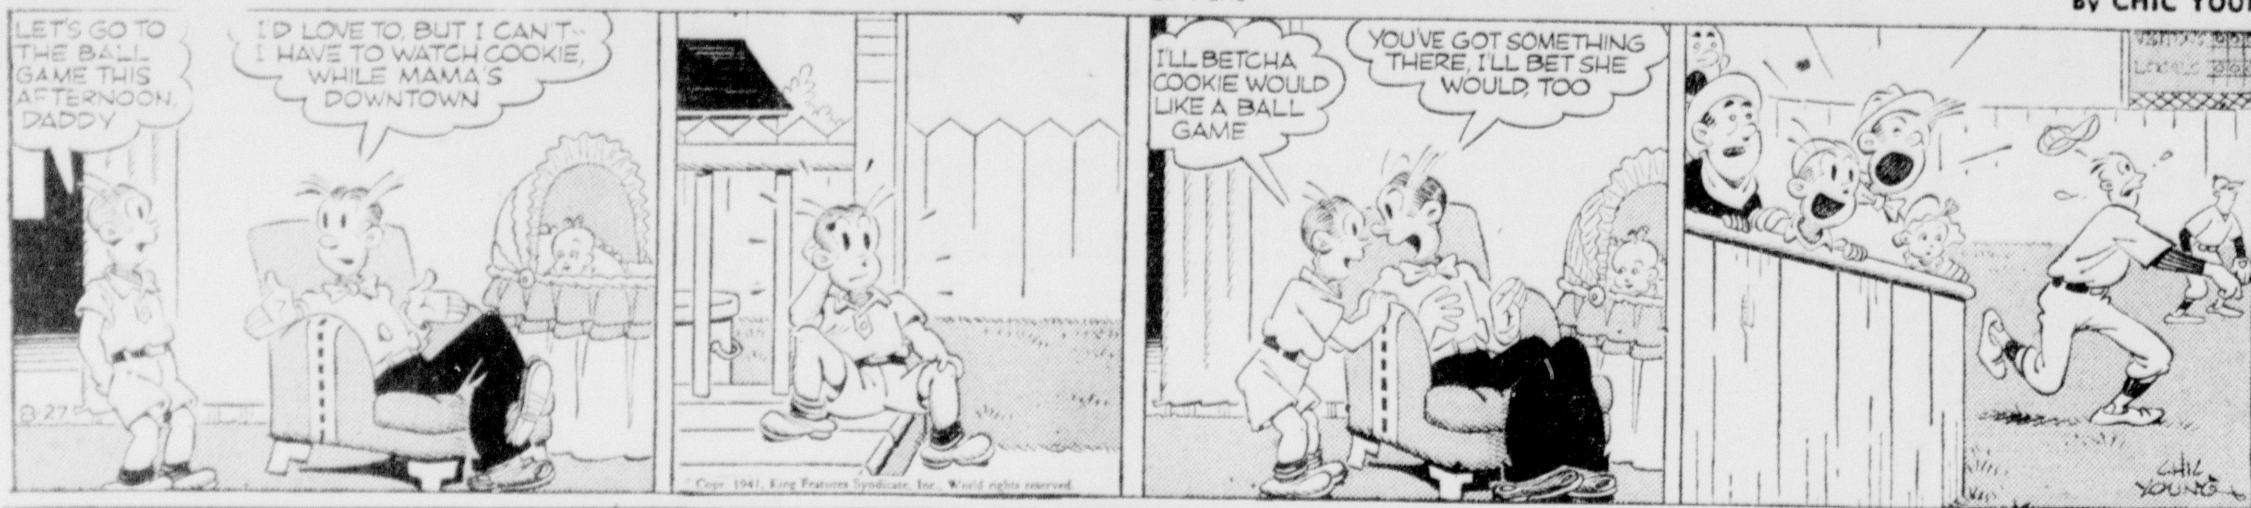

Standing Is Revised
The revised standing, as drawn up last night, gives the Old Germans a record of eighteen wins and one defeat, Wellersburg twelve and six, Mt. Savage eleven and seven, Centerville eleven and eight, Celanese Local eight and twelve, Bard six and

Food Costs Up Ten Per Cent Over Last Year

But No Need for Food Hoarding, Says Chamber of Commerce Speaker

Another plea to consumers to do their part in maintaining price stability by refraining from purchasing foodstuffs in quantities that exceed their normal needs was made last night in the weekly broadcast of the chamber of commerce.

The speaker was A. Florian Wilson, who, in an address over Station WTBO, pointed out that the "typical market basket" in Cumberland cost only ten per cent more August 1 than it did a year ago.

Ten Per Cent Jump

This "typical market basket," comprising a list of foods ordinarily consumed by the average family, cost $3.57 as of August 1 of this year, compared to $3.22 on the same date in 1940, an increase of slightly more than ten per cent, Wilson said.

The principal price increases occurred in meats, the speaker said, adding that uncooked foods showed less change, coffee actually went down and milk and bread prices were unchanged.

"These facts," Wilson declared, "tend to show that insofar as our daily bread goes, the increase in prices has at least not been alarming."

"One of the reasons for this is the fact that our grocers are well stocked with plenty of canned goods and lamb chops and vegetables which go to make a good table. So while some merchants and manufacturers will be hard hit because of an emergency cut in the production of civilian goods, the retailer of foods is sitting on top of the world insofar as the food supply is concerned."

Surplus of Many Foods

"America has a great surplus of many kinds of food on hand; canned goods, wheat, eggs and butter in cold storage, and others. And, besides, this will be a year of superabundance in the growth and production of agricultural commodities."

"Some of us will recall the period of panicky buying and rising food prices during the last great war. It's that recollection that may cause some people to go out and stock up on food when there is no reason to do so. There is little parallel between the food situation today and that of 1917 and 1918."

"You may ask what effect the commitment to aid Britain under the terms of the Lend-Lease act will have. It is true that we have promised to send embargoed anti-aircraft nations not only the weapons of war, but food as well. But we can feed these other countries without creating scarcity at home."

"Up to this date, our exports to England have disturbed our food supplies little, if any at all. For one thing, the war suddenly cut off a tremendous export market for American farmers and the foods we sent abroad through provisions of the Lend-Lease act haven't begun to make up for the loss of our enormous pre-war export trade."

Costs Rising

"This tendency for prices to rise is, of course, due to the fact that in times of national emergency the elements in costs usually rise. These are increasing. Labor costs are going up. These things count all along the line from the time the seed is sown until the food is delivered to you. Only recently, you will recall, the government was buying surplus stocks to get prices up, and, too, demand has increased. While it hasn't overstepped the bounds of supply, it has had some influence on the food market."

"Increased work and increased payrolls enable families to eat more butter, eggs and meats. In the final analysis there is little likelihood that we will experience any sudden or unexpected upswing in food prices. Our supplies are too great and we have a wide choice of foods. If the price of one gets high we check it by shifting to another."

"Let us examine the situation with eggs, butter and milk. Our milk production on the average is six per cent greater than it was last year. On June 1, 36,000,000 pounds of butter were in cold storage, a third more than average; while stocks of eggs in cold storage were not below average."

"And what about wheat? At the beginning of the summer, we had 400,000,000 bushels of wheat on hand. Production this year is large. Even the dust bowl will produce a bumper crop, estimated at some 900,000,000 bushels. As a matter of fact, storage space for what we had left over from last year and the prospective crop is short. So we will have more wheat than we can possibly sell or eat. Much of this will be converted into more meats, more eggs, butter and milk. We will have a good corn crop and much of our corn will be converted into bacon, hams and lard."

"So even though our local market basket shows an increase of ten per cent in cost compared with 1940 there is nothing for us to be alarmed about, insofar as quantity of foodstuffs available is concerned, or the danger of run-away prices."

"Do your part," Wilson concluded, "in maintaining price stability by refraining from purchasing in quantities that exceed your normal needs."

Merchants Asked To Help Save Gas

Curtailed of Delivery Services Urged by Mercantile Bureau

Cumberland merchants are being urged to assist in the voluntary reduction of gasoline consumption by restriction of delivery services, it was announced yesterday.

In letters mailed yesterday by the mercantile bureau of the chamber of commerce, merchants are asked to:

1. Reduce regular deliveries to one a day.
2. Request customers to aid the program by carrying small packages.
3. Eliminate deliveries except in cases when immediate delivery is imperative.

The letters, signed by Ralph G. James, chairman of the mercantile bureau, state that the request for co-operation came from the Maryland Council of Defense through its regional committee.

Editor Discusses Development of Modern Paper

Joseph B. Finan Details Duties of Publisher to Public

Vast and unusual changes have occurred in the newspaper publishing industry during the last half century, but they have been part of a development that has placed the newspapers upon a sound and dependable footing. Joseph B. Finan, publisher of the Cumberland News, told Rotarians yesterday at their weekly luncheon at the Port Cumberland hotel.

Speaking from his experience of fifty years in the newspaper business, Mr. Finan, editor of the Evening and Sunday Times, and president of the Times and Alleganlian Company, compared the vicissitudes of former days with present conditions in newspaper publishing, defined the duties of a publisher and gave suggestions for helping to build local newspapers into worthy civic institutions.

When he started in the publishing business here, the speaker recalled, Cumberland had a population of 12,700, with two daily and four weekly newspapers, while four other weeklies were being published outside in the county. Readers were comparatively few, many families not receiving any newspaper at all; machinery was much cruder; the advertising patronage was small, wages were low and office income even lower. In fact, Mr. Finan said, the workers were better off than the publishers with respect to income in those days. Newspapers then consisted usually of four pages each.

Several factors have operated to transform all of these things, and give the people the newspaper service they have today, the speaker said, chiefly the advent of the typesetting machine and the development of transportation and communication. All these factors served to multiply the number of readers and that gave an impetus to advertising and enabled the publishers to give more news and features. The development of reader interest made advertising necessary and profitable, Finan said, pointing out that expansion was rooted in the former rather than in the latter. Some believe advertising makes the modern daily newspaper, he said, but it is the reader interest—circulation—which is the backbone of the newspaper today.

Having traced the development of the newspapers from the days when there were too many for the population to the present with fewer but more substantial and serviceable publications, the speaker detailed the duties of a newspaper publisher. His first duties, it was declared, are to his God, his country and his fellow man. Next are the wants of his readers. He must provide articles of interest for the whole family. He must publish editorials which are honest, consistent and logical. The views may be right or wrong, but they must be honest and the product of a candid mind, wherein they will command respect and create confidence. He must have few intimates and form no entangling alliances.

Readers of newspapers are entitled to all the news that is legitimate and printable, Finan said, and there should be no suppression for the accommodation of selfish groups or individuals, although there may be some news that should be omitted for the benefit of the community or the protection of innocent persons. The notion that advertisers influence the news policy of a newspaper has long since been disproved, the speaker declared.

Citizens who want to help in building up dependable newspapers were advised to refrain from asking that items of legitimate interest to the community be omitted from publication. It was noted, however, that the practice had just about disappeared.

Divorce Granted

Associate Judge William A. Huster yesterday signed a decree granting Mrs. Rosie N. White an absolute divorce from Page L. White. The plaintiff, represented by Estel C. Kelley, attorney, was also awarded custody of two minor children.

Road Condition Protest Heard

'WPA Left Hinkle Road in Awful Shape,' Commissioners Are Told

Another complaint concerning the condition of roads left unfinished when WPA work was suspended July 1 was received yesterday morning by the board of county commissioners.

The complainant was Mrs. Edith Rice Bowman, whose letter began, "Will you please do something for the Hinkle road?"

"The WPA left it in awful shape," Mrs. Bowman went on. "We have a poor way of traveling and we can hardly get through as the weeds are along the sides, and then we have to walk on stones in going to our church."

"I don't think that's right. We pay our taxes, and we been with the party long enough that we should not be treated so. So please finish our road. Thanks."

Simeon W. Green, president of the board, pointed out that Hinkle road was one of nearly a score in similar condition as a result of the WPA shut down and said that the county engineer is moving to put them in better shape as rapidly as he can with his limited crew.

Mrs. Bowman, whose letter was addressed to A. Charles Stewart, former president of the county board, also directed another communication along the same line to County Tax Collector Alban C. Thompson, who referred it to the commissioners.

Four youths, none over sixteen years of age, have been cited to appear Saturday morning in juvenile court on charges of breaking and entering one gas station and attempting to break into several others in recent days.

R. Emmet Flynn, city detective, apprehended the youths yesterday. He said they took $2 from the Hawkinson Tread plant and gas station, corner South Centre and Williams street, and attempted to gain entrance to the Esso stations at South Mechanic and Williams street and at South Liberty and Harrison streets.

The outbreak of breaking and entering cases in Cumberland started soon after the closing order was passed to conserve gasoline.

John Edwards, Jr., Addresses Legion At Meeting Here

Local Post Plans Saturday Night Dances; 57 Attend Ham Dinner

An interesting talk on the subject of "Legion Activities" was given last evening by John Edwards, Jr., superintendent of the Cumberland division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, at the regular monthly meeting and ham plate supper of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, at the American Legion home, Harrison street.

It marked Edward's first visit to the local Legion post and he visited at home with the ex-service veterans as he formerly served as commander of Taylor County post, of Grafton, W. Va., and Boyce Houser post, of Keyser, W. Va.

Chief Signalman George Carroll, of the local United States Navy recruiting office gave a brief talk in which he asked legionnaires to assist in the drive for recruits and pointed out the benefits by those joining the service.

OVER THE TOP BY SEPT. 15 IS USO GOAL

The Allegany county United Service Organizations drive is expected to go "over the top" by September 15, Thomas P. Conlon, chairman, said yesterday as he urged further contributions to fill the quota.

The campaign is less than 1,000 short of its goal, Conlon pointed out, asking that contributions be brought or sent to Room 18 in the Liberty Trust building or to local chairmen of the drive.

The campaign reported receipt of $20 yesterday from Mrs. W. O. McLane, Frostburg chairman, including $10 from Frostburg Council No. 1442, Knights of Columbus; $5 from Star of Frostburg Council No. 98, Daughters of America; and $5 miscellaneous.

Posters of Candidate For Governor in 1942 Removed from Poles

The disappearance of those cardboard posters advocating the candidacy of Thomas E. Cook, of Frederick, for governor of Maryland in 1942 from telephone poles in Cumberland was explained yesterday by their reappearance at police headquarters.

Local Camera Club Elects Christopher As New Treasurer

Western Maryland Salon Is Postponed; Minature, Judging Announced

Joseph C. Christopher has been appointed treasurer of the Cumberland Miniature Camera Club as successor to James L. Weber, who will leave soon to enter Duke university in Durham, N. C. Appointment was announced by the progress committee of the club.

Postponement of the proposed Western Maryland salon, planned for two weeks in November, also was announced. The committee decided to defer the holding of the salon for at least a year because of expense of such an event and the inability of the club to secure a suitable place for staging the show.

A fifty-print exhibit of the St. Louis, Mo. Camera Club, heralded as one of the finest in the country, and twenty-five prints of the Lawrence, Mass. Camera Club will be displayed at the regular monthly meeting of the local club, scheduled Monday, September 8, in the Knights of Malta building, Prospect square.

The club advises all members with prints taken during the recent outing to Deep Creek lake to turn them over to the Harvey Jewelry Company, Baltimore street, so that they may be judged by officials of the Deep Creek Yacht Club.

Reports received from Miniature, Neb., where the forty-print traveling salon of the Cumberland Miniature Camera Club was judged by "America's Valley of the Nile Camera Club," gave "Our Daily Bread," by James B. Smith, of Frostburg, first prize. James L. Weber's "Signals" and "The Watchmaker," placed second and third. Honorable mention was given Weber's "Almost Home" and "The Road"; John R. King's "Westbound" and Morris Fram's "Generator Trouble."

The salon was voted "one of the finest" viewed by the Miniature club.
